As a sculptor, draughtsman, photographer, and environmental artist, Mary Miss has straddled the fields of architecture, landscape architecture, and installation art for more than thirty years. Her work moves from the urban bustle of New York, to the vast plains of the American Midwest, to the remote forests of Finland and has been acclaimed worldwide for its poetry and power.

Designed in association with the artist, this exquisitely produced monograph, a comprehensive overview of Miss's work, features over 175 duotone photographs of her projects accompanied by copious drawings and plans.
