"My mother and my father did not tell me the name of Tom Cruise; neither my grandma. First, my parents weren't rich. They were farmers all their lives. Second, I was born in a poor village; life was always hard beyond comprehension.

--A fantastic journey from the East to the West; an inspirational story about American Dreams. It's the ultimate expression about Love, Dream and Hope. It reveals the totality of possibilities of human potential.

How do we Americans review this original piece of art from an international transplant from China? How do we judge her own feelings and emotions towards this developed country called America? And what can we learn from this poor Chinese girl's unique vision and perspective? And how America is going to accept another "The Cather in the Rye" which's going to shake its own culture?

Well, you have to read the book, and be prepared to allow your mind blown away.

This brilliant touching book is filled with humor and genuine emotion. It reveals the TRUTH of human condition, existence and experience. Obviously Yan has an important Message for the world, and that's the liberation of every HUMAN being! Yes, to reach the kingdom of heaven. And the heaven is NOT where you go after you DIE, the heaven is right here, right now.

Yan completely gives herself in the book. You will cry with her, laugh with her, and sometime you think she is inside of you, since her dream and journey will remind yours. She is talented, passionate and funny all together; and this book is going to shock and shake American culture and the rest of the world. The true emotion, sarcasm and the sharp of the language make it a rare gem. It's going to be controversial and influential. It's funny and inspirational; Spiritual and original. It's universal. You may never experience what she experienced, but you definitely had a dream like she did. This book's going to change your life from the inside out.
