108 Rock Star Guitars by photographer/author Lisa S. Johnson is a collection of stunningly personal and intimate portraits of the cherished guitars? owned by the gods of rock. It is a music and fine-art photography aficionado's backstage pass to witness up-close these six-stringed works of art belonging to Les Paul, Eric Clapton, Keith Richards, Jimmy Page, Lou Reed, Carlos Santana, Bruce Springsteen, Nancy Wilson, Bonnie Raitt, Rick Nielsen, Slash, Jack White, Billy Gibbons, Ace Frehley and many others.? This exquisite, 396-page art book, bound in embossed red leatherette, features 300 images that reveal-through Johnson's signature macrophotography style-the intimate details, etchings, totems, and personal touches that embody the true spirit of the musician and that few-save for their stage crew-have seen from this perspective. Alongside these images, Johnson provides personal anecdotes describing her long quest to photograph these iconic instruments and documents her travels from the backstage hallways of some the world's most famous concert venues, to the artist's private homes. "I remember the first black-and-white pictures Lisa took of my guitars...they were wonderfully evocative," writes the late legendary musician and inventor Les Paul in the book's foreword. "I never could have guessed that she would one day produce the extensive, impressive collection of photographs presented here-images unlike any I have ever seen. Lisa's passion for her subject is evident on every page of this magnificent book." Renowned for his innovations and recognized as one of the pioneers of the solid body electric guitar, Les Paul wrote the book's foreword a few months before he passed away in 2009. In his honor and memory, Johnson will donate a portion of the proceeds to The Les Paul Foundation, which supports music education, engineering and innovation as well as medical research.
